KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS SCHOLARSHIPS FOR DEMOBILIZED SERVICE MEN

PURPOSE OF BULLETIN.

In view of the widespread interest that the Knights of Columbus scholarship awards have attracted throughout the country, this bulletin is issued for the purpose of presenting a detailed announcement of the distribution of the scholarships to date, together with a description of the terms of the awards and of the method of procedure.

BASIS OF SELECTION.

Every candidate whose application in proper form was received within the time limit set by the Committee, and who was certified as eligible for admission to the college for which he applied, was notified that he would be awarded a scholarship, provided that he entered at once, or at the beginning of the second semester, at the latest. In every instance the decision as to the eligibility of candidates was made by the college authorities.

NUMBER OF AWARDS.

To date*, 415 applicants have been certified as eligible for entrance, and 383 have taken advantage of the offer and have been awarded scholarships in 36 institutions. Of the total number of awards, 86 are for academic courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts and 297 are for technical courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science or its equivalent.

* Dec. 22, 1919.

At the present time 336 students are enrolled and in attendance. Arrangements have been completed for the enrollment of the other 47 at the beginning of the second semester of the current school year.

Final reports have not yet been received upon the eligibility of 45 applicants for scholarships in the Colorado School of Mines, and of 19 applicants for scholarships in the University of Missouri. It seems probable that when these two institutions are heard from the total number of awards will exceed 400.

By reason of delay in determining the eligibility of candidates for admission to the University of Missouri, the Committee has decided that all those applicants who qualify may enter at the beginning of the second semester. Inasmuch, however, as the courses at the Colorado School of Mines are so arranged that provision cannot be made for the admission of students into the freshman class in the middle of the college year, the Committee has granted to those applicants who qualify for admission as freshmen at that school, special permission to enter at the beginning of the next school year, in the fall of 1920. This permission is extended, of course, only to those whose applications were submitted to the Supreme Secretary previous to the closing of the lists.

The Committee wishes to announce that no more scholarships will be offered and that none of those now held by students will, under any condition, be transferred to other persons.

ORIGINAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The first announcement of the offer was made on August 17, 1919, when the following statement was issued:

"KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Applications giving full particulars, the course desired, and the institution preferred must be filed on or before September 1, 1919, with the Supreme Secretary, Knights of Columbus, New Haven, Conn. All applicants must be prepared to meet the ordinary qualifications demanded by the institution for which they apply.

The Committee reserves the right to make distribution of the scholarships throughout the country and among the various institutions above mentioned. In determining this matter, both the marks received by the applicants in the entrance examination and the widest possible distribution of the scholarships throughout the country will be considered."

REVISION OF PLAN.

It will be noted that it was the original intention of the Committee to limit the number of scholarships to 100 and to make the awards upon a competitive basis, the comparative merits of applicants to be determined by examinations which would be conducted by the boards of entrance of the various institutions.

Preliminary arrangements, therefore, were made with the college authorities in accordance with these plans. The number of applicants, however, was so great and the task of determining the comparative qualifications of the candidates became so increasingly difficult, that the Committee decided to award a scholarship to every student who might be certified as eligible for admission to the institution for which he applied. It was decided also that the time limit for receiving applications should be extended to September 30, 1919.

TOTAL NUMBER OF APPLICATIONS.

The total number of applications received, distributed by states, is as follows:

Alabama	8	Montana	6
Arizona	5	Nebraska	10
Arkansas	9	Nevada	...
California	31	New Hampshire	17
Colorado	25	New Jersey	125
Connecticut	118	New Mexico	2

Minnesota	72	West Virginia	8
Mississippi	11	Wisconsin	43
Missouri	59	Washington	13
		Wyoming	1
	Canada	11
	Total,	2,291

Of this total many were rejected because applicants failed to specify the preferred college or course or because application was made either for colleges or for courses such as law, medicine or dentistry, that were not included in the offer. Circulars were issued to all such applicants, advising them of the irregularity of their applications and notifying them of the requirements of the Committee. Many applications also were rejected because they were not submitted within the time limit.

ACTION ON APPLICATIONS.

The total number of applications submitted to the colleges, including those corrected in conformity with instructions issued, was 1002. Careful investigation of the qualifications of each of these applicants was conducted by the college authorities, with the result that 415 students have been certified as eligible for entrance to the various institutions.

The following tables show the number of complete applications, the number of applicants certified as eligible and the number of scholarships awarded.

REPORTS AND VISITATIONS.

The Committee feels that its responsibility with relation to the public and to these young men whom it is assisting to secure an education is by no means terminated with the completion of the necessary arrangements for their matriculation and for their maintenance at college. It feels that its interest in them should be continuous during their entire course, that it should require a complete record of the progress of each, to be furnished by the college authorities, and that it should keep in close personal touch with every student through frequent visitations by its representatives. For the purpose of obtaining the necessary information concerning the personal history of the students, a questionnaire will be issued to each by the Committee.

It is gratifying to be able to state that reports received to date from various institutions and from many of the students themselves, indicate that they are deeply appreciative of the opportunity that has been presented to them and that they are imbued with the spirit of earnestness, of diligence, and of determination to succeed.

CO-OPERATION OF COLLEGES.

Any account of the Scholarships would be incomplete that failed to make mention of the splendid co-operation of the college authorities. Notwithstanding that a tremendous burden was imposed upon them at very short notice and at the busiest time of the college year, especially in the case of those institutions for entrance to which the number of applications was large, they exerted every effort to assist the Committee in the selection of the eligible candidates and in the arrangement of the details of the awards.

The Committee wishes to make grateful acknowledgement, therefore, of that co-operation and assistance on the part of the college authorities, without which the successful accomplishment of its purpose on behalf of the ex-service men would have been impossible.

The following excerpts from letters received by the Committee from College Presidents contain the best possible expression that can be offered of their cordial endorsement of the awards as a valuable contribution to the work of reconstruction.

From Rt. Rev. Thos. J. Shahan, LL.D.,
President, The Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

"I desire to congratulate the Knights of Columbus on their recent activities in the field of education and especially on the generous provision they have made in behalf of young men who are returning from the service of their country to the occupations of civilian life. The establishment of the scholarships, while it offers special advantage to the students who have obtained them, is at the same time a patriotic measure. It shows that the fine American spirit which animated the Knights during the war is guiding them in the work of reconstruction; and I am confident that its results will be equally beneficial in securing the blessings of peace.

The holders of the scholarships in the Catholic University are young men of promise. They give the impression of a seriousness which is doubtless the effect of their experience in the service, and which will now contribute to their success as students. There is every reason to believe that they will show their appreciation of the opportunities afforded them by the Knights of Columbus and acquit themselves with credit to the Order.

In co-operation with the Knights, the University will do all in its power to accomplish the high purpose for which the scholarships have been awarded and to develop in each of the scholars a loyal devotion to the ideals which have inspired your Order in its various undertakings."

From Richard C. MacLaurin, LL.D.
President, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

"The Committee on War Activities of the Knights of Columbus has rendered a most important service to the Nation in the awards that it has made of scholarships to ex-service men. This is one of the most practical means that could be devised of rendering assistance to men who gave themselves to their country in the great national crisis. Not only was the plan good, but the methods of carrying it out were wholly admirable."

From Rev. Edward P. Tivnan, S. J.,
President, Fordham University, New York, N. Y.

"The idea was a splendid one, practical in every detail, and constituted what, to my mind, was the best possible method of showing gratitude to those of the returned soldiers who cared to avail themselves of the opportunity. They gave the best there was in them to make the world, and this country in particular, better. It was assuredly a happy thought to offer them in return the opportunity of improving, by means of a sound education, their former condition."

From Arthur T. Hadley, LL.D., President, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.

"The work of the Committee on War Activities of the Knights of Columbus in awarding scholarships to ex-service men who wish to study in the colleges and technical schools of the country is admirable both in its conception and its execution.

Nothing is more important for reconstruction than to have the supply of educated and trained men kept at its normal level, and to give men who have patriotically served their country in war the chance to serve it effectively in time of peace. Among the many efforts to secure this object that of the Knights of Columbus takes an important place, and promises to be carried out with the same good judgment which has characterized the war work of that organization."

From Rev. James J. Carlin, S. J.,
President, College of the Holy Cross,
Worcester, Mass.

"It is my humble opinion that your funds could not have been put to a more noble or more profitable use. After faith there is no more precious possession than a properly developed mind and trained faculties. And this boon you are placing within the grasp of some four hundred young men, who in time of war gave their services to their country."

Although vain praise is not the end you have in view in this noble work, there is no doubt that all men will commend you for it and there is no one who will not concede that the splendid reputation which the Knights of Columbus have won the world over for their charitable and disinterested service during the war, will be enhanced immensely by this post-war plan to educate so many deserving young men."

From Ira N. Hollis, Sc. D., President,
Worcester Polytechnic Institute,
Worcester, Mass.

"In the first place, I want to say that the business method of the Committee seems to me admirable. We have usually found dealings with the Government tedious beyond anything, and to find any agency dealing with a question such as you have undertaken going ahead with its business without red tape and without imposing all kinds of restrictions is refreshing."

I consider the award of these scholarships a useful and entirely proper use of the funds at the disposal of the Knights of Columbus. It will do much to assist in the rehabilitation of soldiers who have been of service to their country."

From Rev. James M. Brogan, S. J.,
President, Gonzaga University, Spokane, Wash.

It is with great pleasure I have observed that you extended your first plans on the Knights of Columbus Scholarships. I cannot forbear sending your body a few words stating what I think of your action.

Your body, the Knights of Columbus, have performed a yeoman service in the Nation's need during the late war, as they have done it in the troublous and anxious months that have since elapsed. Though your organization is comparatively recent they have already accomplished more than any of us dreamed they could do during our lifetime.

Their work on the battle-line, their courage, their faith, their patriotism aroused and strengthened the morale of the army; their work for the soldiers and sailors has brought Europe's blessing on America; in brief they have shown the practical value, the great superiority, of our Christian principles of loyalty to Country and loyalty to God.

I doubt whether anything they have accomplished will be as far-reaching, as effective, as lasting, as this, their crowning work of bestowing scholarships on the boys who fought and bled for our Country.

From Alexander C. Humphreys, LL.D.,
President, Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken N. J.

"I take this occasion to express to you and your organization my warm appreciation of this undertaking of yours to give to those who have served their country in this war crisis an opportunity to more completely equip themselves educationally for their work in life. The arrangement you propose to make is certainly one which should appeal to the very best that is in these young men. I am not at the moment prepared to say exactly how well these men will do that are with us, but we shall keep you clearly advised as to their progress and we shall do everything in our power to help them to help themselves.

I am particularly impressed with the broad minded way in which you are assigning these scholarships, for apparently neither race nor religion is involved.

Under the circumstances the least we can do is to co-operate completely and loyally on our part to make this work effective."

From Rev. William T. Doran, S. J.,
President, University of Detroit,
Detroit, Mich.

✓ "It certainly gives us a great deal of pleasure to add our mite to the good things that have been said by other college men relative to the splendid work that the Knights of Columbus are doing for returned soldiers and sailors.

Without your help most of these men would be unable to go on with their education, and hence would not do the work for their country that your scholarships will enable them to do. Hence they will be forever obligated to the Knights of Columbus for occupying the position in life that shall be theirs.

A hearty 'God speed you' in your good work."

From Victor C. Alderson, LL.D.,
President, Colorado School of Mines,
Golden, Colo.

"I feel that the work of the Knights of Columbus in providing scholarship facilities for the discharged officers and men of our Army and Navy is worthy of the highest commendation. In the very near future the world will demand engineers of the greatest possible ability. The reorganization of our industries, the development of our natural resources, and general readjustment will require a very large number of specially trained men. There is no better way to supply the needs of the country than to help to an education those who wish to help themselves. Scholarships, such as the Knights of Columbus have established, meet this need in the most practical and efficient way.

I assure you of the cordial and hearty support of the Colorado School of Mines in your effort."

From Rev. James J. S. Dean, O. S. A.,
President, Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

✓ "Permit me to express to your Committee, and through it to the Knights of Columbus as a whole, our appreciation of the splendid work you are doing in the cause of education and in the interests of American citizenship.

Your Order seems to have been the first to realize the fact that education must be one of the foremost influences in the great work of reconstruction. In this, however, you are but continuing the program so successfully carried out during the war both at home and abroad. To have grasped the situation so quickly indicates a clearness of vision that augurs well for the future, and to have undertaken the task so energetically, without precedent to guide you, betokens a degree of confidence that must needs bring success. The spirit which prompted your action is deserving of the highest commendation and we trust that abundant and meritorious fruit will reward your labors.

✓✓ The method adopted for the selection of suitable candidates for your scholarships was both wise and prudent. Those who have already served their country in time of peril will surely be the first to realize the new danger and will be most zealous in defense of our national institutions. Your farsightedness has resulted not merely in a splendid reward accruing to those who have deserved well of their country and its people, but also in a guarantee of even more enlightened and devoted service for the future. The continuation of such a policy and its adoption by other agencies is the surest pledge of our national perpetuity."

From Frank S. Kedzie, Sc. D. President, Michigan Agricultural College, East Lansing, Mich.

"I feel that I speak for the institution which I represent when I assure you that we appreciate very much the opportunity to assist in carrying out such a beneficent project as that inaugurated by the Knights of Columbus respecting the support of a number of young men in order that they may complete the full four year course at this college.

✓ I am confident that the young men who are sent here by your organization will fully appreciate your generosity and will, with our help, prove to your association that the granting of this assistance to the young men returning from the service of their country was the best possible use which could be made of the money left in the hands of your society at the close of the war."

From Rev. James A. Burns, C. S. C., President, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind.

"My personal acquaintance with the young men who have been awarded scholarships at Notre Dame by the Committee on War Activities of the Knights of Columbus has confirmed my conviction of the serviceableness and timeliness of this signal educational benefaction. The funds which remained at your disposal for War Activities could not be put to any purpose which would be more advantageous to the entire American people.

These young men represent the very flower of our American manhood. All of them responded loyally to the call of their country for self-sacrificing patriotic service. Many of them were wounded or suffered some other disability while in the army. They are eager for an education, which they would be unable to secure, in most instances, had not this opportunity been afforded them.

Not only these young men, but the entire nation will be the gainer by your wise and generous policy. The number of America's educated men will be increased by the number of men you have sent to the colleges, while, at the same time, thousands of others will probably be spurred on, by the example of these young men, to secure the advantages to be derived from pursuit of the higher cultural, scientific and technical studies.

In the era of reconstruction which lies before us, this increased college enrollment will mean much for the further development of the higher life and work of the nation. Nothing, in fact, which the Knights of Columbus has accomplished will, in the future, redound more to its credit and glory than this notable educational achievement."

From Rev. John B. Creeden, S. J.,
President, Georgetown University,
Washington, D. C.

"The one hundred and eight applicants for Knights of Columbus scholarships at Georgetown University have been examined and forty-seven have been enrolled in the School of Foreign Service. The Regent of the School reports that the students are good, earnest men and that few, if any, could have attended a school of higher education without the assistance furnished by the Knights of Columbus.

The Order is to be congratulated upon its generous effort to reward patriotic services and to promote scholarship and efficiency."

From Edgar Fahs Smith, LL.D.,
President, University of Pennsylvania,
Philadelphia, Pa.

"The University of Pennsylvania is deeply interested in what the Knights of Columbus has done for returned soldiers. We are glad to say that those who have come to us are proving very worthy recipients of the trust you have reposed in them. It was a splendid act on the part of the Knights.

From Very Rev. Humphrey Moynihan,
A.M., D.D., President, College of St.
Thomas, St. Paul, Minn.

"I beg to thank you for the Knights of Columbus scholarships granted to the young men assigned to this College. These students, you will be pleased to hear, are of the very highest type, conspicuous for their serious and studious character, and for an unusually fine sense of responsibility.

You will allow me to add that I cannot conceive of any measure which would be adopted by the Knights of Columbus combining more completely all the features of an enlightened benefaction than that which has been so happily embodied in these scholarships."

From David Kinley, Acting President,
University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

"I can only say that the idea seemed to me well conceived and worthy of great praise. Here fifty scholarships were awarded and thirty-five of the recipients have registered."

From Rev. John F. McCormick, S. J.,
President, Creighton University,
Omaha, Nebr.

✓ "The Knights of Columbus have undertaken a work of genuinely patriotic service in establishing their scholarships for ex-service men. It is a work of reconstruction worthy of the Order that reflected such credit on the Catholic name in the war-work it carried on here and abroad."

From Fred W. Atkinson, Ph.D.,
President, The Polytechnic Institute,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The movement instituted by your War Activities Committee in granting college scholarships to ex-service men is one, the benefits of which to our country and nation will be seen not only in the immediate future, but more and more in the years to come. The generous provisions under which the four or five hundred men are pursuing their higher education in preparation for their life work has lifted a tremendous burden from their shoulders and has in many cases made the impossible possible to them. It has also stirred them with a new hope and enthusiasm, and has filled them with a feeling of thankfulness to the public that afforded them these opportunities.

Through this fact we can be assured that the devotion these men displayed while in service will, if anything, be enlarged, and that while they will be made more capable in the matter of pursuing a successful career, they will also be retained as loyal citizens and leaders with a willingness to serve their country at all times and in all ways possible."

From Winthrop E. Stone, LL.D.,
President, Purdue University,
Lafayette, Ind.

✓ "The action of the Committee on War Activities of the Knights of Columbus in awarding scholarships to discharged soldiers attending Purdue University has been taken in an unusually broad-minded and generous way. The scholarships have been awarded to very deserving young men who, as an outcome of their patriotic service as soldiers, now have opportunities for an education which otherwise would have been beyond their means. Such a provision on the part of a patriotic organization is in my judgment the most substantial contribution that can be made to reconstruction problems.

I wish to express my unqualified approval, not only of the action, but of the spirit with which it has been carried out."

From Rev. Bernard J. Otting, S. J.,
President, St. Louis University, St.
Louis, Mo.

✓ "Is it too much to be hoped that this peace movement of the Knights of Columbus will win the admiration that it deserves? May admiration grow into imitation so that we may henceforth look back at this allocation of the funds of the Knights as the first impetus of a great movement that will gain momentum with the years.

I, for one, cannot commend too highly this most recent action of the committee. I question whether any of its highly and justly praised war measures showed greater wisdom, or met so well the needs of the hour for America. I pray that the example may not be lost on our people."

From Rev. John C. Stuart, President, Dubuque College, Dubuque, Ia.

"I wish to state that the Knights of Columbus scholarships will be a great help in reconstruction and rehabilitation and that they will directly benefit a large number of our heroic young men who answered the call to the colors."

SPIRIT OF STUDENTS.

The spirit of appreciation and of earnestness on the part of those men to whom scholarships have been awarded is clearly evidenced in the following few brief excerpts from the many letters which the Committee has received.

From Joe S. Roper, a scholarship student at the Colorado School of Mines, Golden, Colo.

"Right now K. of C. is the symbol of the strongest Americanizing agency and of the most aggressive and efficacious enemy to the disintegrating forces in the United States.

Nowhere is the realization of this so apparent as among ex-service men and it is accompanied by a confidence and friendliness which no organization ever had before."

From Andrew Bergman, a scholarship student at The Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

"I am ready to enter the Catholic University at the beginning of the second semester subject to your further approval. A good many doughboys, after the restlessness and excitement in France, have pent up in them a longing to become bigger and broader citizens of our fair land and are looking for a chance. I have found mine in this scholarship through the Knights of Columbus. We feel no greater benefit can be bestowed on us than these scholarships and in our eyes the K. of C. rank first in promoting 100% Americanism. May I not thank you heartily and wish you every success in your endeavors."

From Vincent D. Cavanaugh, a scholarship student at the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind.

"I need not tell you how grateful I am to the Knights of Columbus for the splendid opportunity they are giving me in the War Scholarship at Notre Dame.

It is a further instance of the fine spirit of generous and disinterested helpfulness that characterized the Knights wherever they served and which the men who served with the A. E. F. in France will never forget.

I can best show my appreciation by earnest application to the work of the university and by such conduct as will prove that the confidence of the Knights has not been misplaced in me."

From Ralph Henry Alden, a scholarship student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

"I am one of the war veteran students to whom the Knights of Columbus have given free scholarships in various institutions of learning throughout the United States.

In regard to the plan of the Knights of Columbus I think it an admirable one, and should be given credit by all people regardless of their religious creed.

I wish to thank you and your organization for the scholarship you have given me. It has afforded me an opportunity of which I had never dreamed. I realize that in order to enjoy its complete benefit I must maintain a good standard of scholarship, but I shall try to do my best, and I believe that that best shall be more than enough to carry me through."

From Earl A. Gill, a scholarship student at Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

"As one of the fortunate ones winning a Knights of Columbus scholarship in the Wharton School of Finance in the University of Pennsylvania, I wish to thank the organization through you for this unusual privilege.

The possibilities that have come to me through the generosity of the Knights are so great that I am at a complete loss to express my appreciation.

I feel that I can best express it by earnestly applying myself to the course I have chosen and thereby reflect credit on myself and on your splendid organization."

From Hubert F. Brennan, a scholarship student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

"I am taking this opportunity of sincerely and most gratefully thanking the Knights of Columbus organization for the offering and awarding of scholarships to the ex-service men of the United States. I can hardly express my real feelings in this respect, but I will most perseveringly try to show my appreciation by making good and by becoming of some ultimate value to my country in the great crisis of reconstruction."

From Thomas E. Cushing, a scholarship student at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

"Having been awarded a scholarship by the Knights of Columbus Committee on War Activities for a course in Mechanical Engineering at the University of Pennsylvania, I wish to express my sincere thanks to the men who represent so great an organization, for what has been done for me. I intend to put forth every effort possible to obtain results that will show my appreciation of the scholarship better than any other way."

From Edward E. Craig, a scholarship student at the University of Illinois.

"It seems to me fitting to try to express through you to the Knights of Columbus my appreciation of their help in making this a real day of thanksgiving for me and many others.

While I was in the hospital in Chicago, came your notification that I had been granted a scholarship. You may be able to imagine what it meant to me, but I doubt it. I foresee long months of hard work ahead. I may have trouble in passing all my subjects this semester, for I have missed much of the work. But thanks to the Knights, I can foresee my graduation some fine day, clear of all debt except the great debt of gratitude to the Knights."

From Ralph E. Elliott, a scholarship student at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.

"I consider myself very fortunate in receiving your scholarship, for without it I should probably have been unable to continue my course, as I have no funds or opportunity to borrow any. Believe me, I cannot sufficiently express my appreciation of your organization."
